

Transmission Rack

PACE offers wide range of IP outdoor cabinets for transmission systems, power distribution and accessories. They are technically fabricated with high quality raw material, to ensure optimum reliability and durability. The design and make support international quality standards, and are based on the specifications provided by the clients. The transmission racks from PACE Power are equipped with AC and DC distribution boxes, and a Krone communication box. The temperature inside the cabinet is maintained according to the specified degree by a compact and efficient DC air conditioner.

Customization options:

- Transmission racks are available in different sizes
- Can be used for mounting of various kinds of equipment
- Can be made to suit specific field conditions
- Sleek compact and light weight options

