

Infra Power Management

Energy efficiency, cost efficiency, reliability are the key driving factors for the telecom passive infrastructure product and services offered by PACE. All activities that make a transmission site or base station functional and operational are part of our core strengths. Economically viable products and solutions are created to maximize their savings through the specialized capabilities of our experienced team. Our core strength lies in customization, design and development of products, planning and execution according to the requirements of the customer. We offer product and services to major players in the telecom and tower companies in India and abroad.

